

IGB increase employee numbers as local unemployment falls

The Innovative Global Business Ltd (IGB Group) officially opened its new custom built £ 1 million pound offices in Honeypot Lane, Stanmore as part of its group growth plan in a ceremony by the Mayor of Harrow, Councilor Janet Cowan, on Tuesday 13th February 2007.

The IGB group operates within many diverse markets across the UK which include the provision of financial services, rental and sales of prestige and high performance cars, general vehicles sales, development and management of property and land, commodity trading, designer label distribution, business banking software, and mobile phone distribution to retail, wholesale and corporate clients.

Tamraz Riaz, IGB Group Business Relations Director said 'we are very happy to be working in our new offices which we hope will continue the development of our divisions, and help us create and develop our relationships with the local councils and the local community as a whole'.

The IGB Group, since moving to the area in 2001, have increased their employee numbers at their Stanmore Head Office by 1300%.

Tamraz added 'Together with the development of our Head Office team we are committed to development within the West London area as a whole. We are currently in the process of developing a state of the art logistics and distribution centre in Hayes, will accommodate over 100 employees with a further 300 to follow in the next 12 months'.
